14 grew up in Arvada and Northglenn. And my family has a ranch that is just west of 15 Trinidad.
17 I care deeply about the people of our state -- the city dwellers of my district, the 18 commuters of our fast-growing suburbs and the farmers and ranchers who, like my 19 family, have Colorado roots going back many generations.
20
21 In my family, each generation worked to make life a little bit better for the next.
22
23 My grandmother on my mom's side could not read. She left school in the third grade
24 to help care for her younger brothers and sisters.
25
26 My grandfather on my dad's side worked long hours at the CF&I steel mill in Pueblo
27 for 38 years, and is here with us today.
28
29 But they pushed their children to aim higher.
30
31 My dad worked in a tire shop to put himself through college. My mom raised three 32 kids and was the first in her family to go to college as well. With hard work and strong 33 families to rely on, they built middle-class lives for themselves and for my brother, for 34 my sister and for me.
35
36 My parents showed me the absolute value of hard work. They taught me the 37 importance of integrity -- that if you give your word, you must keep it. They showed 38 me that with education and dedication I could reach my full potential.
39
40 My story is unique but at the same time not at all uncommon. And that is how it 41 should be:
42
43 America should provide opportunity for people to succeed if they put in the hard work,
44 regardless of their background.
45
46 If I asked the other 64 of you, many of you probably have variations of the very same
47 story. Whether you're a first- or a sixth-generation American or have roots dating back
48 to this country before it was one, many of you have shared in some way a similar path
49 toward prosperity and opportunity.
50
51 It's the American story, but not one that we can take for granted.
52
53 Even today, eight years removed from America's last great economic downturn, too
54 many Colorado families still face daunting challenges.
55

1 Some parents struggle with heavy debt and worry about being able to put their kids
2 through college.
3
4 Other Coloradans are being priced out of their homes in the very communities that 5 they grew up in.
6
7 Or they struggle with the high cost of childcare.
8
9 Some have a son or daughter who suffers from substance abuse, mental illness or 10 disability.
11
12 Or they have a sick loved one at home or must take care of an elderly parent, but 13 cannot afford to take a single day off work.
14
15 And it's astonishing that in the year 2017 too many women and too many Latinos and 16 African Americans still aren't paid equal pay for equal work.
17
18 Our work here for the next 120 days is to serve everyone in our state by making it 19 easier to succeed.
20
21 Government is not intended to work only for those at the top, or for those with the 22 lowest incomes. Government is intended to work for everyone.
23
24 Too often, those in the middle feel left out.
25
26 Let's strive to level the playing field for all and reward those who accept their 27 personal responsibility to work hard --
28
29 by valuing their work with fair pay -- 30
31 By giving employees access to retirement savings accounts, so that middle-class
32 Coloradans can actually retire after years in the workforce --
33
34 Let's listen to the people who elected us by focusing on the issues they deal with 35 every day -- and working together to provide solutions.
36
37 Let's start this session by making housing more available to middle-class Coloradans
38 without jeopardizing the rights of consumers.
39
40 Before opening day, President Grantham and I said this may be the year when we can 41 make progress on construction defects reform.
42
43 Well today is the day. Today, progress has come.
44
45 President Grantham and I, with Assistant Minority Leader Wist and Senator Williams, 46 are introducing a bill that will address high insurance rates, one of the root causes
47 making it harder to build more new condos.
48
49 This bipartisan problem-solving is not new to Colorado.
50 Together, Republicans and Democrats, we've done things to improve the lives of 51 many -- like when we passed bipartisan legislation to open a pipeline between young
52 Coloradans just entering the workforce and the careers that await them in Colorado's 53 fast-growing advanced industries and technology sector.
54
55 The law created an internship program allowing Colorado high school and college
56 students to gain on-the-job experience in high-tech industries.

1 Relius Medical, a manufacturer of specialized medical devices in Colorado Springs,
2 won a spot in the program, hired three interns through Pikes Peak Community College
3 and recently promoted two of those interns to be full-time employees.
4

5 Emerson Hauptli, one of those former interns, is with us today, along with Eric
6 Knutson, the CFO of Relius. On behalf of more than 200 interns and more than 100
7 Colorado companies that have benefited from this program, gentlemen, please stand
8 to be recognized.
9

10 We also recognize that a good job may not be enough to be able to afford a decent
11 place to live, which is why we passed, with bipartisan support, tax-free savings 12 accounts for first-time homebuyers and a tax credit for developers to build or 13 redevelop affordable housing. Today we have with us Stan Strelecki, a Navy veteran 14 whose home was developed with the assistance of a credit from the program.

16 Mr. Strelecki, I'm glad that together we could assist you, along with thousands of 17 others across Colorado, to have a safe and affordable place to live. Please stand so we 18 can thank you for your service to our country.
19

20 Lastly, I want to recognize the bipartisan work that went into helping Coloradans who 21 otherwise would have had no chance at a college education reach their American 22 Dream.
23

24 In 2013 we passed a law called ASSET. The bill made in-state tuition available to 25 students who had grown up in Colorado and graduated from a Colorado high school,
26 regardless of their immigration status.
27

28 Now more than a thousand students – students who were brought to this country as 29 young children and are Coloradans in every way except for a piece of paper -- have a
30 chance to do what would otherwise be nearly impossible: earn a college degree.
31

32 One of those students is Daniela Murillo, a Denver resident since the age of 4 and now
33 a student at CU Denver. The state of Colorado invested in Daniela's K-12 education,
34 and now, under ASSET, we are helping her reach her potential by earning a college
35 degree and making a bigger contribution to Colorado's prosperity.
36

37 Daniela, thank you for joining us here today.
38

39 Emerson, Eric, Stan and Daniela are symbols of the progress we've made in Colorado.
40

41 They are real-life examples of what is possible when we put partisanship aside and put 42 people first.

44 For them and many thousands more, we have made Colorado's celebrated quality of 45 life more accessible.

47 This is Colorado's promise. Let's build on it by solving real problems.
48 Let's make the road to prosperity a little easier. Literally.
49

50 Let's reach bipartisan consensus on a statewide transportation plan – a plan that 51 overhauls our fast-decaying infrastructure and meets the needs of our rapidly growing 52 state.
53

54 We need a plan that focuses not just on moving cars down the road, but on moving
55 people. We need to accommodate our state's increasing productivity and population, 56 which is growing by 250 people per day.

1 Anyone who's been on I-25 at rush hour, anywhere from Fort Collins to Pueblo,
2 knows the need is real.
3
4 With a statewide transportation plan that infuses new resources into our state's most 5 critical needs, we put more Coloradans to work. We improve our state's quality of life.
6 And we increase the productivity of our Colorado businesses.
7
8 Almost half of our bridges need preventive maintenance. Almost eighty percent of our 9 highways will need repairs or major reconstruction in the next ten years.
10
11 We all know that potholes and rough roads are causing damage to our tires and cars.
12
13 Additional funding will allow us to improve our roads and bridges, to maintain our 14 existing infrastructure and avoid costly repairs, and to create more transportation
15 options for more people, including bus and rail service and flexible transportation
16 options for elderly Coloradans and those with disabilities.
18 I am pleased to say members of all four caucuses are engaged in promising discussions
19 to create a bipartisan proposal to send to Colorado voters that is comprehensive, that 20 will provide new resources, and that will benefit our entire state – from the rural 21 eastern plains and Western Slope to our busy urban corridor.
22
23 Let's send the voters a plan with dedicated transportation projects that are transparent
24 and accountable to taxpayers and won't take money from our schools. Let's make sure 25 that promises made are promises kept.
26
27 While transportation will be a big topic this year, there's another we cannot lose focus
28 on. Education remains one of our state's greatest challenges.
29
30 While some of our schools are thriving, others are struggling mightily.
31
32 The state simply doesn't have the money right now to make sure every boy and girl
33 in Colorado has the tools to succeed and reach their full potential.
34
35 Some students are being left behind. We're missing an opportunity to teach thousands 36 of young Coloradans who need vital 21st-century skills in computer science and digital 37 literacy.
38
39 The system is not serving all of the people of Colorado.
40 We've been getting by with band-aids for a while, but it is not enough.
41
42 I say let's have a real discussion about ways to actually solve our education issues for 43 the long term. Let's make a case to Coloradans that something needs to be done, and 44 offer some ideas to do it.
45
46 I have heard from many of you some very interesting ideas – some that are new, some 47 from years past – for how we begin to untangle our budget mess, which is the root
48 cause of our education struggles. These ideas are coming from both sides of the aisle.
49
50 Let me be clear: if we do nothing, our state's continued prosperity is at risk. If we 51 cannot fund our schools, if we cannot provide families an affordable college
52 education, then we are not delivering what the people of Colorado need.
53
54 My door is always open to anyone with a constructive concept to move us forward. I 55 don't care what it is or who it comes from.
56

1 Here's what I most definitely will not be receptive to: As speaker of the Colorado
2 House of Representatives I will stand firm against divisive language and divisive
3 policies that are sure to destroy Colorado communities and undermine our economy.
4
5 We cannot tolerate attacks on women and people of color. We must stand up for those 6 who might otherwise be shoved down or pushed aside.
7 Our continued success as a state and a nation are not guaranteed. There is a dangerous
8 movement afoot that threatens to rip our social fabric and unwind decades of good
9 work by members of both political parties.
10 It goes beyond mere partisan jockeying.
11 It is an elevation of hate and fear.
13 If we let it catch hold –
14
15 if we normalize language and behavior that is simply not normal --
16 if we do not call out hate and racism when we see it --
17 if we do not defend our foundational values --
18
19 Well then our democracy itself is at risk.
20
21 But it doesn't have to be.
22
23 I ask all of you in this room to join me in defending the ideal of an inclusive Colorado.
24 Of one that does not permit bullying of people because of their gender, race, religion,
25 nationality, or sexual orientation.
26
27 Inclusiveness cannot be dismissed as political correctness. It is a fundamental tenet of 28 our state and of our nation.
29
30 Inclusiveness is part of who I am. My parents named me Crisanta believing that in an 31 inclusive America it would not be a wall to my success.
32
33 Inclusiveness is not some recently discovered virtue. The leaders of our state
34 celebrated it in stained glass when they commissioned the portrait above us,
35 commemorating Barney Ford, a former slave who became a prominent Colorado
36 businessman and a civil rights leader.
37
38 Down the hall in the Old Supreme Court chamber are stained glass images of Native
39 Americans and African-Americans, as well as immigrants from Mexico and Asia. All 40 contributed to the development of our state.
41
42 Colorado's people and leaders have recognized throughout our history that 43 inclusiveness makes our state stronger.
45 It is why in 1893 Colorado was the first state to pass a referendum by popular vote
46 extending suffrage to women.
47
48 It is why during World War Two our former Governor Ralph Carr stood up – at great 49 political expense – when Japanese residents, many of them citizens of this nation,
50 were interned at a camp near Granada, Colorado.
51
52 And it's why in 2014 our current governor, John Hickenlooper, formally offered a
53 brave, belated apology to the descendants of the Sand Creek Massacre of 1864, saying 54 at the ceremony, "We should not be afraid to criticize and condemn that which is 55 inexcusable."
56

1 Members, none of us should be afraid to condemn that which is inexcusable. Let's
2 elevate inclusiveness, not tear it down.

4 We must rise above ugly politics to forge a new path forward.

5 The people of Colorado are depending on us to make a difference beyond the talking
6 points, the Twitter feeds and the headlines.

8 It is our time to govern -- together. It's our time to deliver results on the issues that 9 Coloradans care about most.

11 We must challenge ourselves to sit down with people who may have a different view 12 than our own and find common ground.

14 Anything is possible when everyone has a seat at the table and we pledge to work 15 together.

17 I know there's a lot of cynicism about government today. About legislative bodies like 18 this one. About the dark money spent on political campaigns.

19 I get it. People feel frustrated and at times even angry. They feel their concerns are 20 ignored and their families are getting left behind.

22 And it's true: there can be a disconnect between the issues people deal with daily and 23 the issues they hear about on the evening news.

24
25 That's on all of us to try to fix. And the way to do that is to keep Washington-style 26 politics outside of this room.

28 This is not Washington DC. This is Colorado -- and in my opinion, it's the best place
29 in the world.

31 People want to come here, to live here, to share all the things that make Colorado a 32 very special place to live, where we enjoy clean air, clean water, and our beautiful 33 mountain views.

35 Our task is not only to preserve what makes Colorado so great, but to make it even 36 better.

37
38 While I am speaker, I will always try to steer this body, and our state, toward the same 39 goal as my parents had for me -- making it better for the next generation.

40
41 Our goal must be a Colorado where no one is taken for granted and no one is left 42 behind.

43
44 Thank you.

45
47 Minority Leader Neville addressed the members of the House of 48 Representatives:

49
50 Madam Speaker, Madam Majority Leader, esteemed colleagues and honored guests, 51 welcome to the First Regular Session of the 71st General Assembly. I would like to 52 congratulate our returning members and all of the newest members for winning the 53 support of their district. Representatives Beckman, Benavidez, Bridges, Catlin, 54 Coleman, Covarrubias, Exum, Gray, Hansen, Herod, Hooton, Jackson, Kennedy, 55 Lewis, Liston, Mckean, McLachlan, Michaelson Jenet, Valdez, Weissman, and 56 Williams. I remember my first day, and it will go fast, make sure you take a moment

1 to look around and let this amazing experience sink in. Serving in the state legislature
2 is a distinct honor, and I look forward to working with all of you.
3
4 I would like to thank Marilyn Eddins for her role in the continued renovation of this
5 chamber and the state capitol. I would also like to thank the teams from Spectrum, GH
6 Phipps, and Fransen and Pittman, and the members of the capitol complex who have 7 worked around the clock to ensure this historic building was ready for this session.
8 Thank you for your hard work, we all appreciate it.
9 I want to thank my wife Kristi and my family for their support, and think we should 10 take a minute to acknowledge all the family members supporting the representatives
11 in this room. While some of you may think we are crazy – maybe some in this room
12 are – the truth is we would not be here without the support of friends and family. I
13 think I can speak on behalf of all of us, thanks for your support.
14
15 To my fellow members, we have a lot of work to do this session. Many issues from 16 prior sessions remain unresolved today. Our state roads continue to deteriorate,
17 Coloradans are still struggling to purchase a home of their own, businesses continue
18 to be inundated with new regulations and many school districts are being forced to do
19 more with less. Yet while we may have philosophical differences about how to solve 20 some of these problems, we are all here to accomplish the same goals. My 21 commitment this session is to objectively evaluate every proposed solution to 22 Colorado's most pressing problems and I hope everyone in this room makes that same 23 commitment.
24
25 This election cycle was contentious, but now we can begin embracing our strengths
26 to help solve Colorado's problems. It is important to remember that while most of us
27 sit on our respective sides of this room, all of Colorado is represented here, and we all 28 aim to make Colorado the best it can be.
29
30 When I decided to run for representative there was one central tenet that has guided 31 me through this position – I will support government when it promotes freedom and 32 justice, and I will oppose it when it stands in the way and makes the life of an 33 individual, a family, or a business more difficult. Government serves very important
34 roles, but it is inherently intrusive and consumptive. Every law, rule and regulation
35 requires tax dollars to implement, enforce, and document. While well-intentioned, 36 every program we create in this building requires more tax dollars. We are all aware 37 of the challenges we have in our budget – but members, every year we have to make 38 difficult decisions. We will always have to prioritize how we spend peoples' tax 39 dollars.
40 This year our budget will exceed $28 billion dollars, potentially more than a billion
41 dollars over last year's budget. Yet we are already hearing that we'll need to make 42 deep cuts in order to balance the budget. How can we make deep cuts when we have 43 $1 billion more than last year? Members we do not have a revenue problem, we have 44 a spending problem!
45 Every family must budget with a finite amount of money, simply getting more money
46 is not a viable option. We are no different here. We have the funds to solve our top 47 priorities, and yes, other programs may need to be reduced, but through greater fiscal 48 responsibility in this building we can help revive stagnant economies in this state – 49 and that will give us more budget flexibility in the future.
50 The bottom line is our general fund revenue continues to grow and we have the funds
51 to address Colorado's most pressing needs. Members in this chamber and our 52 colleagues in the Senate simply need to focus on our top priorities and commit to 53 responsible spending.
54 We talk a lot about priorities in this building, but the truth is, if we have lots of top
55 priorities we actually have none. Once again, Republicans' top priority will be 56 transportation. No other issue in front of us impacts commerce, education, public

1 safety and revenue more than transportation. Parents drive their kids to school on our
2 roads, businesses depend on employees and customers travelling to their facilities, oil,
3 gas and agricultural companies depend on roads to transport their product, and the 4 state depends on tourism. There are countless more examples of why transportation
5 must be our top priority, yet there are elected officials in this building that say funding
6 transportation is only something we can do when we have extra money.
7
8 Members, if we treat transportation funding as an afterthought our roads will get 9 worse. This legislature controls the General Fund and prioritizing that revenue for 10 transportation is something we can control without asking taxpayers for more money
11 and depending on an election. We have discussed bonding for new transportation 12 projects in the past and members on both sides of the aisle have supported that 13 proposal. This year let's finally give transportation the support it needs and prioritize 14 general fund revenue to service a TRANS bond bill.
15
16 Many of you might remember one of Minority Leader Brian DelGrosso's most 17 common phrases, 'the best way we can help the business community is to leave them
18 alone, to do no harm.' For five years Republicans have raised concerns about 19 excessive rules and regulations on the business community and tried to pass a 20 meaningful regulatory reform bill. Let me put this in perspective, since the 21 Republican's first attempt at reform in 2012, 2,592 rules have been adopted. That is 22 over 77,000 pages of rules Colorado's business community must read and implement.
23 Even the most well-intentioned rules still require business owners to review and 24 implement changes to their businesses, which takes time and resources away from 25 their normal operations. While there are ways for small businesses to be a part of the 26 discussion, owners seldom have the time to stay current on the rule making process
27 and engage in the discussion.
28 It is expensive for small businesses to comply with regulations, and too often
29 businesses are not consulted about rules that cost them money. This session
30 Republicans will once again try to help Colorado businesses with legislation that 31 places more responsibility on state agencies to study the potential impacts of new rules
32 ahead of promulgation , and look for ways to help businesses understand new rules
33 rather than to fine and penalize them. Rules and regulations serve an important role,
34 but they have become excessive and changes are necessary to keep Colorado welcome
35 to small business.
36 As Speaker Duran mentioned, helping people purchase a home is a critical issue. We 37 have had many conversations about attainable for-sale housing in past sessions, but 38 we have failed to enact any meaningful solutions. I want to be very clear, homeowners
39 should absolutely have recourse to remedy poor construction, but we cannot let a 40 dysfunctional system that only benefits lawyers continue to prevent people from 41 attaining a home of their own. Home ownership is the cornerstone of every sound
42 financial plan. This session Republicans are pushing for policies that will get builders
43 building for-sale attainable housing. While there are other issues contributing to this 44 problem, the lack of for-sale attainable homes is the primary cause, and if we don't 45 address it, Colorado's housing crisis will get worse.
46 We have strong bipartisan support for this legislation, and people are counting on us
47 to solve this problem. Let's make this the year we pass comprehensive construction 48 litigation reform.
49 Over 240 years ago our Declaration of Independence conveyed this message to Great 50 Britain – "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that 51 they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these 52 are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness." This message forged a nation and we 53 have a duty to uphold these founding principles.
54 Out of all the individual rights, the right to life is the most sacred, without it, there can 55 be no liberty or the chance to pursue happiness. All life is sacred and deserving of the 56 unalienable rights that define our nation.

1 This session, Republicans will defend life and push for more individual rights.
2 Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the 3 free exercise thereof. That is the First Amendment of our Constitution. Prohibiting the 4 free exercise thereof. Members no individual should be forced to participate in a
5 service that conflicts with their religion and this session Republicans will again seek 6 to give Coloradans religious freedom.

7 A well-regulated militia, being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the 8 people to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed. That is the second amendment
9 of our Constitution. Right of the people to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed.
10 Members, the second amendment is about security of people and their property from 11 the ill intent of those who seek to do them harm. I take my right to keep and bear arms
12 very seriously and so in a safe way, as do millions of other law-abiding gun owners.
13 Sadly, criminals do not, and stripping rights from law abiding citizens has done and 14 will continue to do nothing to change that. Law abiding citizens should have the right
15 to carry firearms at any time in any place. They should have the right to protect our 16 kids at schools and other public places, and use their discretion to determine the type 17 of firearm that best suits their needs. Republicans will once again stand up for the 18 Second Amendment and the defense of one of our most sacred Constitutional rights.
19 We need to protect a parent's role in their child's life and realize that parents know
20 better than we in this room do. Parents should have the right to make decisions about 21 their children's education and their health. The ability of parents to pursue the best 22 education for their children should not be an option solely for the rich, but should be
23 an option for all parents. We need to fund every school option equally and give parents
24 the choice of what school best suits their children's needs. School funding should 25 follow students through their educational path, and we need to focus on trade schools
26 and ensure today's curriculum aligns with today's workforce.

27
28 Our Constitution was created to ensure freedom remains the foundation of our society, 29 it is what every service member swears to protect and what so many have paid the 30 ultimate sacrifice to defend. Freedom is the defining quality of this nation and we as 31 elected officials have an obligation to legislate for freedom, not against it. I hope my 32 support for more freedom is shared by everyone in this room and can be something 33 that unites rather than divides us.

35 We have seen the result when the government gets involved in the private sector, the 36 Affordable Care Act is a perfect example. Obamacare continues to fall short on goals
37 and projections and has been an unmitigated disaster leading to skyrocketing
38 healthcare costs. I am hopeful our healthcare system can find new life with purposeful
39 free market reforms that help lower the costs of premiums and address the impact 40 Medicaid has on our budget.

41 While Colorado's economy is slowly improving, but wages are not keeping up with 42 the cost of living, and many regions of this state are struggling. We need to make 43 Colorado a business friendly place again, give the private sector the space it needs to 44 innovate, add good-paying jobs and feel confident to invest in this state - that is the 45 only way to get every part of Colorado's economy on track.

47 The government picking winners and losers is a failed strategy and Colorado should 48 be the leader in energy production. It's time to revitalize Colorado's energy economy.
49 When it comes to oil, gas, and coal we need to be open for business. This is why I'm 50 calling on the Governor and his party to remove the regulatory noose around the necks
51 of oil, gas, and coal immediately.

52
53 Members, it is possible for us govern without resorting to more rules and regulations.
54 It's been almost a century since the Colorado Revised Statutes was one book. Today, 55 it takes 25 volumes to document our current laws. We cannot attempt to solve every 56 societal problem with a new statute in this book. I can tell you that strategy will

1 require far more money from taxpayers' pockets and result in far less individual
2 freedom. We have to let common-sense prevail, not every issue is black and white and 3 not every problem requires a statutory or regulatory fix.

4
5 Let's begin this session focused on prioritizing transportation, empowering small 6 business and looking for ways to get government out of the private sector's way. Let's
7 help lower the cost of doing business in Colorado, and help incentivize more growth.
8 Let's let the free market inspire more innovation. Let's support personal freedoms and 9 individual liberty.

11 I have worked with many of you and know our existing and new members bring 12 tremendous talent, intellect and devotion to this body. We can respect our differences 13 while still uniting our strengths. Let's work together to make this a successful year for 14 the people of Colorado.

15
16 Thank you and God bless.

ADDRESS BY THE HONORABLE
John Hickenlooper

I couldn't sleep last night, so I thought about delivering this speech as a tweetstorm....

But I heard you were going to be here anyway...

Don't worry you'll be home in time for dinner.

Acknowledgments

President Grantham, Speaker Duran, Members of the General Assembly, Lieutenant Governor Lynne and her husband Jim, Justices of the Colorado Supreme Court, Attorney General Coffman, Treasurer Stapleton, Secretary of State Williams, Southern Ute Chairman Frost, Ute Mountain Ute Councilwoman Plentyholes, the State Board of Education, Denver Mayor Hancock, other elected officials in attendance, my hard-working cabinet and staff, my amazing wife Robin, my fellow Coloradans...

We thank our veterans and their families for their sacrifice and service.

And we thank the members of the Colorado National Guard nearly 400 of whom are deployed overseas, defending our democracy...

We recognize our Department of Public Safety, which last year helped mitigate 43 forest fires along with local first responders...

Any one of these small blazes could have grown into the next catastrophic wildfire...thank you.

And we want to recognize our neighbors and heroes in law enforcement who we've lost over the last two years:

Trooper Cody Donahue,

1 Trooper Jaimie Jursevics
2 and Trooper Taylor Thyfault
3 And Corporal Nathan Carrigan
4 Deputy Derek Geer,
5 and Marine Corps Captain Jeff Kuss...
6 Some of their families have joined us today...
7 we ask that they stand so we can show our support and love.
8
9 Body
10 Let's honor their memory by making our state a better place...
11 because that's why they served.
12
13 It's no secret that we've just been through one of the most toxic political 14 campaigns on record.
15 Regardless of who you supported, we can all agree:
16 last year was divisive.
17 But we'll soon have a new president, and it is clear that the new administration
18 and Congress seek a different relationship between the federal government and 19 the states.
20 In the early 20th century, Justice Louis Brandeis popularized the idea that states
21 are the laboratories of democracy...
22 And in the coming years, we expect more responsibility to be directed our way.
23
24 But in Colorado, we've always been trailblazers.
25 And now, more than ever, we need to move forward...chart our own
26 course...and focus on results.
27 Because Colorado deserves our best efforts.
28 And history has its eyes on us...
29
30 In 2011 when we startedColoradans were hurting.
31 Over 200,000 people were unemployed,
32 and countless more were UNDER-employed
33 Six years, and almost 400,000 new jobs later,
34 we have one of the lowest unemployment rates in Colorado's history
35 and the state of our state is STRONG.
36 We're the number one state for business and careers,
37 we have the best workforce, and we're one of the best states for innovation...
38 More people attend cultural events in Colorado than any other state...
39 more skiers and snowboarders choose Colorado...
40 we are the best place for outdoor recreation...
41 Andwe're home to seven professional sports teams and some of the greatest 42 college teams...
43 not to mention the world champion Denver Broncos.
44 Colorado's future is bright
45 And like anywhere with a strong economy, we have our challenges...
46 With an aging and insufficient infrastructure...
47 lagging recovery in certain areas
48 and a growing cost of living...
49 that future is too far out of reach for too many.
50 Today, we won't frame solutions in partisan terms.
51 We are called to these chambers to tap into our state's deep reservoir of ideas...
52 no matter where they come from...
53 and demonstrate that an accountable government solves problems...
54 stimulates growth, and improves lives...
55 across Colorado.
56 This morning, we talk about solutions

1 Tomorrow, working together, we begin to make them happen.
2 We've had a lot of conversations about where we're going...
3 but not enough about how we get there
4
5 We have 725 days left together...
6 and as the late, great, Muhammad Ali said,
7 "Don't count the days, make the days count."
8 Every bill we write, negotiate, and sign...
9 every time we enter this building
10 let's make our days count.
11 As we evaluate each solution, let's ask ourselves:
12 Does it keep our communities safe?
13 Does it help those unable to care for themselves?
14 Does it create good-paying jobs?
15 Does it help small business?
16 Does it improve quality of life?
17 Thomas Jefferson said that the future of the country is in the West.
18 It was true at the turn of the 19th century
19 And it's true today.
20 But that promising future didn't just happen on its own
21 our founders invested in railroads, farms, and people.
22 Today, 8 of the 10 fastest growing economies in the country are west of the 23 Mississippi and we want to be the best of the West and of the nation
24 the best state for jobs, the best state for business, and the best place to live
25 To do all this we need to invest in our future.
26 We need a comprehensive focus on infrastructure that supports not just 27 transportation, but also broadbandeducation, healthcare, and our environment.
28 These are not luxuries...
29 Infrastructure investments lead to jobs.
30 And quality of life starts with a good job.
31 If we want to be the best, we need to lead in Colorado.
32 One way to get started is right before us...
34 Talking about the hospital provider fee on the second floor of the Capitol is 35 about as popular as the Oakland Raiders
36 BUT it's a sensible way to solve some of our problems...
37 though it won't solve all of them
38
39 Let's see if we can take a fresh look at the hospital provider fee itself
40 and see if it can be modified as a vehicle to control costs,
41 to build more transparency and accountability
42 and better serve rural clinics and hospitals.
43 We can free up the money we already have, from existing revenue, to begin
44 building the infrastructure we need to support our growth.
45
46 Transportation
47 Over the next decade, Colorado has $9 billion dollars of unmet transportation
48 needs and that need will only grow.
49 Voters are tired of us kicking the can down the road...because they know it's 50 gonna land in a pothole.
51 In our neighboring state of Utah, infrastructure investment is a priority.
52 Utah has about half as many people as Colorado but invests four times what we 53 do to expand their road capacity--every year.
54 It's economics 101: smart investments in infrastructure create jobs and 55 strengthen the economy.
56

1 Two years ago, on the west steps of the Capitol, we said it was time for a
2 continuous third lane on I-25 from Wyoming to New Mexico.
3 This past summer, working with local officials, we secured $15 million in 4 federal funds to help build a new express lane from Fort Collins to Loveland.
5 And just last week, CDOT leveraged funding to start the planning process to 6 add a third lane from Castle Rock to Monument.
7 This means that the required planning will be completed in under three years.
8
9 These are good first steps, but the cost of construction to bring I-25 into the 10 modern world is still over $2 billion.
11 That's more than CDOT's total annual budget...which is almost entirely 12 dedicated to maintenance.
13 We're already squeezing every penny out of our transportation revenue
14 But efficiencies can only get us so far.
15 With the gas tax unchanged since 1992, more fuel efficient cars and normal
16 inflation it's basic math it's a funding problem.
17 We've had this debate for too long...
18 If talk could fill potholes we'd have the best roads in the country...
19 But the General Fund cannot adequately support the demands of core
20 government services and capacity improvements in transportation...
21 There are some who believe we can pay for our infrastructure needs through 22 cuts alone. But that can only happen if we demand major sacrifices from 23 Coloradans.
24 If that's what you want, introduce that bill. Make that case.
25 Tell us who loses healthcare or what schools have to close to add a mile of 26 highway.
27 Coloradans share our desire to make these investments.
28 They know that our future economy demands a modern infrastructure.
29 Let's examine all our options whether it's new revenue, simplifying or replacing 30 old tax streams, or a combination of both.
31 We can find a solution that clearly spells out to Coloradans exactly what they're 32 getting and how the money will be spent...
33 And how that funding can benefit rural and urban communities, support local 34 needs and statewide projects, and balance transit options with highway 35 expansions.
37 Lincoln once said: "I am a firm believer in the people. If given the truth, they 38 can be depended upon to meet any national crisis. The great point is to bring 39 them the real facts and beer."
40
41 Let's decide what we take to voters in November, and let's make our case to the 42 public...
44 Broadband/Jobs/Economy
45 Infrastructure is more than laying new roads and expanding transit: it's running 46 the fiber and deploying new technologies for reliable, affordable internet in 47 every part of the state.
48 Businesses should be able to open their doors wherever they want...
49 especially in smaller communities.
50 Every school, hospital, clinic and home should have high speed internet.
51 In rural Colorado, only 7 in 10 households have access.
52 Tonight, somewhere in one of these communities a high school student will sit 53 in a parked car outside her town library.
54 She'll huddle over her laptop, face glowing from the screen as she tries to finish
55 her paper...
56 Because it's the only place she can get wifi.

1 This isn't right.
2 Today, I'm announcing the creation of a broadband office to help us get from 3 70% to 85% coverage by the time we leave office and 100% by 2020.
4 We'll work with industry and local civic leaders people like Katelin Cook... Rio
5 Blanco County's economic development coordinator
6 who recently helped Meeker and Rangely become some of the very first rural 7 giga-bit communities in the entire country...
8 and she is here with us today.
9 In 1936, a Republican U.S. senator from our neighboring Nebraska championed
10 the Rural Electrification Act... to run the power lines that made countless family
11 farms across the country more competitive.
12 Fiber optic cables are today's power lines for farmers, ranchers and rural small 13 businesses.
14 These entrepreneurs helped pull us out of the Great Recession now, we need to 15 pull together for them.
16 We need to make sure they're fairly connected to other counties and countries...
17 If they can't play on a level field, our economy suffers and we all lose.

18 19 Education/Workforce

20 Thousands of Coloradans' careers have shifted beneath their feet there are still 21 thousands of new jobs that need to be filled... many of which don't require 22 college degrees.
23 But they do require skills, knowledge, and expertise.
24 We need to include pathways not just to four-year degrees but also to technical 25 training and skills certificates... for the many jobs in Colorado that require 26 advanced skills like cybersecurity training.

27 ...
28 Last year, when we created the National Cybersecurity Center--
29 which is already a national leader in this critical area--we learned from industry
30 that less than half of the 10,000 job openings in this field require a university 31 degree.
32 Cybersecurity isn't just about high profile breaches against big business and 33 federal agencies
34 anyone with information or money to steal is at risk...
35 and hackers are reaching through new windows and doors every day.
36 Colorado Springs is known as the place where world-class olympians train.
37 Now, it is becoming a world-class destination to train our cyber workforce.
38 And even beyond cybersecurity, there is increasing demand for technical skills.

40 From high school students wanting to work as apprentices--to the many 41 Coloradans who want a new career...
42 either from passion or necessity...
43 these jobs should be available for everyone.

45 If we do this right, there should be an opportunity for thousands of Coloradans 46 to acquire skills...

47
48 either in classrooms or on the job... that are career-focused and transferrable to 49 different industries in the future.

50 In the last 18 months, foundations, corporations and the federal government
51 have joined our cause and provided more than $15 million in grants to fund
52 innovative public-private partnerships like Skillful and CareerWise
53 Colorado... helping students and job seekers develop new skills for new careers.

55 Today, we are a national model for matching education with skills based 56 training.

1 Sean Wybrant is Colorado's Teacher of the Year.
2 He has been teaching for 11 years at Palmer High in Colorado Springs, as he
3 said, to "change the world."
4 And he's changing it by focusing on the one-third of our kids who won't go on 5 to four year or two year colleges.
6 He's preparing the next generation for the career and technical jobs of 7 tomorrow
8
9 Tim Kistler is the Superintendent of the Peyton School District in El Paso
10 County...where he helped open the Woods Manufacturing Program in an empty 11 middle school.
12
13 It teaches students cutting edge skills needed in the woodworking industry.
14
15 We thank both Sean and Tim for helping to close the skills gap...
16 and for making sure all students realize their potential.
17 Closing the gap means giving students a solid foundation for success at every 18 step of their education...
19 as they move from preschool through K-12, toward college, certificate, or 20 apprenticeship...and onto a good job.
21 Part of that work includes a common sense plan to fund education.
22 The constitutional budget constraints for school finance are the thorniest part 23 of our fiscal thicket.
24 This July, the Gallagher Amendment will cause property taxes for schools to 25 drop by $170 million.
26 In addition to addressing transportation...Speaker Duran, President Grantham,
27 and minority leaders Guzman and Neville...
28 let's get our best minds together and find a way out of this thicket that respects
29 taxpayers and gives all of our children the education they deserve.
30
31 Blueprint 2.0
32 From Towaoc to Julesburg, from Dinosaur to Campo, we are working to 33 support business and stimulate growth.
34 We have one of the best economies in the country,
35 but some rural communities struggle...
36 That's why we have invested significant resources and focused all cabinet 37 agencies in an effort to fully realize the expansion of our economy across the 38 entire state.
39 Last summer, Blueprint 2.0 announced their support for initiatives that local 40 communities identified:
41 From tourism promotion and outdoor recreation, to tiny homes and affordable 42 housing.
43 Our small towns represent a fraction of our total population, but they are a 44 crucial piece of the fabric of our economy and when small communities flourish,
45 the whole state benefits.
46 We have improved access to the outdoors, partnered with local government and 47 communities to improve and ultimately complete and connect 16 priority trails 48 across the state.
49 Outdoor recreation generates 313,000 jobs in our state and over $34 billion in 50 economic output, much of it in rural Colorado.
51 It is also one of the top reasons businesses and talented workers choose to come 52 here.
53 As part of our Colorado the Beautiful initiative...this summer we'll be 54 launching an interactive statewide trails map that will--for the first time ever-- 55 pull together over 20,000 miles of Colorado trails managed by over 100 local,
56 state, and federal agencies.

1 Anyone hiking or biking will be able to see where they are and where they're
2 going on a map, take photos along the way and share those photos with others
3 on the same trail.
4 This is one piece of our vision to get kids outside and exercising.
5 And thanks to the generosity of people like Jake Steinfeld--a nationally
6 recognized fitness expert--three schools in the state will have a chance to win
7 a brand new $100,000 dollar fitness center to help students get fit and stay
8 healthy.
9 We want everyone to experience the beauty of our entire state...
10 and we also want to make sure all regions have access to these tourism dollars.
11 We can't wave a magic wand to diversify the economy throughout the state...
12 But if we work together, we can support growth in any community that wants 13 it.
14 We're asking to establish a point person on the ground for rural economic 15 development issues to expedite and speed resources to communities that need 16 them...
17 in communities like Montrose where Colorado's Job Training helped Al
18 Head...here with us today, and his employees at Western Skyways...a company
19 that re-manufactures one of the finest piston engines in the aviation
20 industry...and markets it worldwide...
21 It's why we have programs like Rural Jumpstart...
22 to encourage companies to move into rural areas.
23 companies like Prostar Geocorp and its employees in Grand Junction...where 24 they provide geospatial intelligence software, and just last year won the APEX
25 award for entrepreneurship.
26 It's why we partner with small business owners and farmers on energy
27 efficiency programs...
28 People like dairy farmer Mary Kraft from Morgan County, who will save up to 29 $5000 a year in expenses, allowing her to focus on her bottom line.
30 Please join me in recognizing Al and Mary
31 And promoting growth means allowing these companies the chance to compete 32 equally on the global stage.
33 They can't afford tariffs or trade wars.
34 Some may think job training and rural incentives aren't glamorous--and there 35 certainly aren't legions of lobbyists for the thousands who are unemployed or 36 underemployed--but it's how we build on our momentum and engage the rural 37 economies at the same time.
38 Our economic engine should be strong enough to pull everyone. Anyone willing 39 to work hard enough should have a fair shot at a good paying job.
40 ...
41 Environment Oil & Gas
42 We're bullish on partnering with rural economies on every intractable issue:
43 from broadband to job training...to our energy economy and clean air and 44 water.
45 With the support of both Republicans and Democrats, we have quadrupled the 46 amount of energy we get from wind and sun in recent years....
47 Costs of these technologies are dropping like a rock--while the clean energy
48 industry provides jobs to over 60,000 Coloradans.
49 We've protected thousands of acres of open lands and rivers while we've 50 become one of the best states in the country for natural gas production
51 We have put the energy needs and costs of hard working Coloradans before any 52 special interest agenda or false promise.
53 Clean, safe, and affordable Colorado-made energy is the best approach.
54 Colorado has led the country on moving to cleaner energy sources we can--and 55 working together--we should have cleaner air at little--or no--additional cost to 56 consumers.

1 When we come together, we create an environment that's good for business and
2 people.
3 Likewise, in the first year of Colorado's water plan, we made progress on every 4 measurable goal.
5 The Water Conservation Board has a strong funding plan to ensure we stay on 6 track so farmers can keep feeding millions while we protect our environment.
7 And as with all of our infrastructure, Colorado should lead...
8 because we all know states are the laboratories of democracy.
9
11 We are relentlessly innovative--in the face of challenges old and new 12 Several years ago Colorado voters asked us to be the nation's laboratory for 13 marijuana legalization.
14 Many of us in this room myself included had serious doubts.
15 But we rolled up our sleeves, and though it's still in the experimental phase, we 16 are trying to create a reasonable and efficient system for a new industry while 17 responding to health and safety challenges.
18 We enacted new safety protections making edibles less enticing to kids requiring 19 that they're contained in safe, childproof packaging.
20 We've dedicated $7 million this year to educate youth, their parents, and trusted
21 adults about underage use.
22 But loopholes in our home grow and caregiver laws have helped fuel abuses of 23 our system and a continuing black market...
24 when we ended alcohol prohibition 84 years ago, we worked hard to wipe out
25 organized crime
26 We should develop common-sense guard rails around our home grow and 27 caregiver laws so that we can end organized crime here, as well.
28 We've also requested $6 million to provide financial resources to local law 29 enforcement to increase training and detection, shut down illegal grows and 30 prosecute criminals.
31 Almost two thirds of Americans now live in a state that has legalized marijuana 32 in some form we're showing that a state can craft a responsive regulatory 33 framework--that works.
34
35 In 20 years when historians look back they'll see how Colorado led the way in 36 creating a responsible and accountable industry
37
38 Homelessness/Affordable Housing
39 And they'll look back on how we used this new revenue...
40 not just to improve our schools and regulate the industry
41 but also to address some of the unintended consequences of legalization.
42 There's no question that marijuana and other drugs--in combination with mental 43 illness or other disabling conditions--are essential contributors to chronic 44 homelessness.
45 Tax revenue from marijuana sales can and should be used to help those who fall
46 through the cracks...
47 including hundreds of homeless vets...
48 helping them find stable, supportive housing.
49 And we will also help provide training so they can find and keep jobs...
50 This is a problem across the state, from the Western Slope to the Eastern 51 Plains and a national problem, too.
52 This investment will not only change the lives of those most affected by 53 substance abuse...
54 it will save the state money.
55 We currently spend more than $40,000 per person to perpetuate lives of misery
56 among the chronically homeless...

1 But for less than a third of that we could invest up front in housing, wraparound
2 supportive services and job training.
3 In every booming economy in the country--like ours--homelessness of all types
4 is a growing concern.
5 ...
6 Across our state, on almost every rung of the economic ladder, Coloradans are 7 being priced out of housing they can afford.
8 We have a housing crisis, plain and simple.
9 Many families are stuck or held down.
10 Too much of their income goes to rent...
11 and homeownership is too far out of reach.
12 Too many people and not enough units adds up to unaffordable rents and 13 skyrocketing home prices.
14 I've said it before: we need more affordable housing.
15 Part of the answer is the construction defects legislation we almost passed last 16 year and we WILL pass this year.
17 There has to be a compromise that balances homeowner protections for faulty 18 construction and still allows developers to build affordable housing throughout 19 Colorado.

21 Health

22 And this isn't the only pocketbook issue we need to address.
23 Our prosperity doesn't amount to a hill of beans if Coloradans can't afford
24 health insurance...
25 if they're not healthy enough to work or enjoy this great state
26 We committed to making Colorado the Healthiest State in the nation.
27 And we've made great progress in this goal:
28 Since 2011 we've helped over 600,000 people get basic health insurance, and 29 94% of Coloradans now have coverage.
30 We believe that basic health care is a right, not a privilege...
31 and thanks to the tireless work of our health cabinet and legislators, expanded 32 coverage means more people will seek the right care in the right place, at the 33 right time.
34 We all save money when people stay healthy or get treatment in doctor's offices
35 instead of emergency rooms.
36 Over the last six years we've launched transformative programs to control our 37 Medicaid costs.
38 We're emphasizing preventive care and giving people the tools to manage their 39 diseases
40 And with the leadership of Lieutenant Governor Donna Lynne, we will address
41 underlying drivers of health care costs...to make it more affordable.

42

43 That's a lot of good news, but we all know actions in Washington could 44 threaten the progress we've made.
45 I think most of us would agree that the last thing we ~~would~~ want is Congress
46 making all of our decisions around healthcare.
47 If changes are inevitable I will fight for a replacement plan that protects the 48 people who are covered now and doesn't take us backward.
49 We look forward to working with all of you to pass commonsense proposals to 50 increase transparency, provide more choices, cover more people, and lower the 51 cost of health insurance for all Coloradans.

52

53 Being the healthiest state means caring for our bodies...and also our minds.
54 We've made important strides in mental health by expanding access to 55 coverage, integrating primary care and behavioral health.
56 But behavioral health demands our attention at all points...

1 and not just as one-off efforts when problems get too big to ignore.
2 There is remarkable consensus around the issue.
3 From doctors to legislators to patient advocates to sheriffs...nearly everyone is 4 in agreement on how we can improve behavioral health outcomes for 5 Coloradans.
6 Let's not leave it to be addressed in our jails, and emergency rooms, and 7 prisons.
8 Let's use this momentum to bring together the work we've already begun to 9 create a comprehensive, statewide behavioral health plan that makes our system
10 easier to navigate, more efficient, and more responsive.
11

12 Innovation/efficiency

13 In everything we do--from building our infrastructure to incentivizing 14 businesses to creating jobs to being the healthiest state in the country, we can 15 always be better.
16 Much of what government does can be measured.
17 And by evaluating our results, we can make government more efficient, more
18 effective and more responsive.
19 That's why two months ago we released the Governor's Dashboard--the latest
20 step in our goal in making Colorado the most accountable state in the country.
21 Think of it as the scoreboard that shows how government is performing--on 22 clean rivers and streams, quick service at the DMV, or job placement at our 23 workforce centers.
24 It's an easy way for Coloradans to see where we've been where we're going and 25 how we're going to get there.
26 We're also using technology to make life easier for our customers--we've hired 27 the country's first digital transformation officer, and later this year we'll be 28 combining a number of services across multiple agencies into a single, easy to 29 use app.
30

31 Conclusion

32 yes, history has its eyes on us...
33 In Colorado, we know how to get things done
34 And acknowledge the limits of a government that shouldn't attempt to solve 35 every problem...
36 In Colorado, we ignore a system that tries to force us into corners--left or right, 37 urban or rural.-
38 Because we operate in the space between where compromise isn't a dirty 39 word where success comes from listening where we embrace the wisdom and 40 experience of everyone in our state.
41

42 It's the space where disagreements are a starting point for change...
43

44 and problems are just opportunities in disguise.
45

47 We don't serve special interests.

48 We serve Coloradans.

49 Giddyup. Let's get to work.

50 Thank you. God bless the State of Colorado

23 Nancy E. Rice
24

25 Welcome, everybody. I want to thank you, President Grantham and Speaker Duran, for 26 your kindness in being here and inviting me over to speak. And I certainly want to 27 thank my escort committee. I don't think I could find my way without an escort
28 committee. So, Senator Gardner, Senator Guzman and Representatives Kennedy, 29 Benavidez, and Wist, thank you so much for doing that. May it please all of you -- and 30 I suppose that's the way I always start, since I'm sort of a judge-like person -- may it
31 please all of you, I'm just delighted to be here. Every couple of years, I get to come and 32 talk to you about my favorite topic, which is the judiciary, and I'm really looking 33 forward to doing so today. Before I do that, I'd like to introduce a couple of people. We 34 have our State Court Administrator here, Jerry Marroney, and seated next to him is his 35 number two person, Mindy Masias. We also have some honored guests here. My 36 partner, Holly Russell. Seated next to her is our very good friend, Laurie Steenrod, 37 noted best for having a "three" golf handicap, which we tell everybody about. And next 38 to her are Tom and Pat Gallagher, very old friends of mine from way, way back. Now, 39 because I'm totally incapable of writing out a speech and because you need a written 40 version of my speech today, we tried to figure out how we could do this, so I have a
41 court reporter, just like the old days. It actually makes me feel very comfortable; I
42 hardly would know how to talk without a court reporter taking down my every word.
43 So, Tammy, thank you for being here, and you can see actually what court reporting
44 looks like -- in this particular instance, what the real-time courtreporting looks like,
45 which means, as I talk it comes right out on the screen. So, if you miss any of my 46 jokes, you can get them about 10 seconds later. Ladies and gentlemen and members,
47 what I want to do is spend a little time talking about the Court; that is, the Supreme 48 Court, and try to let you know the breadth of what we do. I'm not going to be here
49 today to talk to you about the number of cases we try and how many cases go to trial
50 and this kind of thing. Rather, what I want to do is share with you really what, in my 51 mind, is the brilliance of the judicial system and how we organize ourselves. I think 52 probably the most interesting thing about the judicial system is that we are not a linear 53 organization. Everybody keeps wanting me to be the boss. I am not the boss. I am the 54 Chief Justice. The bosses are those people right there, including me -- the supreme 55 court. So when you talk about the authority of the court, the authority of the judicial 56 branch, it always comes from the supreme court, and that's the seven of us. My power

1 derives from them. And something that's really, really interesting in Colorado that's
2 different than you probably hear of other places is that, in Colorado, the supreme court
3 elects the chief. You know, federally, John Roberts, for example, was appointed by 4 the president, and even in Denver County Court -- I know some of you were interested
5 in that -- the mayor appoints the chief. But, in Colorado, the justices themselves elect
6 the chief. We have this little tiny election, as you can imagine, just the seven of us, and 7 we choose somebody to be a chief. Now, if they don't want me to be the chief
8 anymore, they can vote me out tomorrow. I serve at their pleasure. It's an interesting
9 role, and it works extraordinarily well. Because of that process and because I am the 10 public face of the judicial branch, sometimes the tremendous achievements of my 11 colleagues get overlooked, and so I want to talk about those today. In talking about 12 them, I think you'll get a good sense of just what kinds of things our court does and 13 what, in fact, the judicial branch does. Now, the first person I want to talk about is 14 Justice Ben Coats. As I always say, Justice Coats and I have having a little contest for 15 best hair on the supreme court. I think I'm winning, but sometimes he thinks he is, but 16 in any event, the two of us do have that contest going. Now, let me tell you about 17 something really, really interesting that Justice Coats has done in the last few years
18 along with Court of Appeals Judge John Daily. You're going to think this is boring,
19 but it's not. What I'm going to tell you about is criminal jury instructions. So don't sit
20 back in your seats. The General Assembly, of course, makes the laws; you come up
21 with the crimes, and I don't know whether you know this or not, but at this particular
22 point there are 870 crimes in Colorado. Now, some of those are duplicates. In other 23 words, you can commit murder a number of different ways, and those all count as 24 different crimes, but there are 870 different ways that crimes can be committed. What 25 happens after General Assembly decides that something is a crime? Somebody gets 26 charged and it goes to trial. At the end of the trial, the judge has to do what we call
27 "instruct" on that crime. So, at that point, we have to tell the juries who are listening
28 to these cases what you meant when you passed this statute or when you created a
29 crime. You will probably not find it surprising to hear that sometimes it is difficult
30 to figure out what you all meant when you passed a statute, when you use certain
31 words, when you use commas in one place or a semicolon in another. So Justice Coats
32 and Judge Daily have created a committee on criminal jury instructions over the last
33 two years and have looked at each one of these 870 crimes. The committee has drafted 34 jury instructions explaining what the elements of the crimes are and what it takes 35 to prove them in court, so that there is a consistency of understanding among everyone
36 in criminal law as to what a crime is and how it should be defined. This has been a very,
37 very big job. Nothing has been done in this area since 1983, and Justice Coats and 38 Judge Daily took this on, and the instructions take up about 3,320 pages. What's really,
39 really cool, however, is that it's online, and it's free. We're giving this work product
40 away. Nobody has to pay for it. The development of criminal jury instructions is a big 41 accomplishment for the branch, and lots of thanks are due to Justice Coats and Judge
42 Daily. Next, I want to talk about Justice Eid. Now, do you know why some of us are 43 justices and some are judges? I know everybody stumbles over that. Well, the reason is 44 that if you sit on the highest court of jurisdiction, you're a justice. No other reason, 45 that's it. If you're on less than the highest court of jurisdiction, you're a judge. So the 46 only justices in Colorado are on the supreme court; the only justices in The federal 47 system are on the U.S. supreme court. Everybody else is a judge. I wanted to give a 48 quick explanation on how that works. So I'm now going to talk about Justice --
49 someone who sits on the highest court -- Justice Eid. Justice Eid is what we call the 50 "rules czar," the "rules wonk" or the "rules nerd," if we're not being quite so nice, but 51 she is the person who actually deals with these hundreds of rules that we have in our 52 system. Let me explain rules to you. Rules have the effect of law. We, in the branch, 53 have the constitutional authority to make rules, and we're supposed to promulgate and 54 make rules governing all of the procedures that happen. The rules committees deal with 55 everything that happens inside and outside of the court, so for example: Civil rules,
56 probate rules, juvenile rules, evidence rules, appellate rules, water rules, magistrate

1 rules, small-claim rules, county courtrules. If it happens, there are rules. And Allison
2 Eid is basically the liaison for all of our rules. It's a very big job. So what do these
3 rules do? How do they make a difference? Well, for example, some of you are familiar
4 with the problems in civil cases. Some complain about those cases being too expensive;
5 that people can't get in and they can't try cases. They think the experts are too
6 expensive, discovery is too expensive. Lots of the cases with smaller damages can't 7 be heard. Basically, we're blocking folks out. So, recently, we had a big initiative,
8 which we called the "Civil Access Pilot Project," where we would rewrite the rules
9 so litigation would be more efficient and user friendly. That took two or three 10 years. Justice Eid was very much on top of that, and she had help from Judge Mike
11 Berger, who is from the Court of Appeals. These rules committees are 12 incredible. They're made up of judges, they're made up of lawyers, they're often made
13 of court clerks. People who actually know what's going on. We have a system set up
14 where judges on the Court of Appeals chair all of these committees, and the Justices
15 act as liaisons between the supreme court and the committees. So, we have 16 rules having to do with juveniles. Judge Karen Ashby is the person who helps us with 17 all of that. We also have appellate rules, and Chief Judge Alan Loeb is in charge of that.
18 We have evidence rules, meaning what evidence gets in and what stays out. What's 19 hearsay, what isn't? Judge Gale Miller assists with that. And Judge Diana Terry, who's 20 not here, is in charge of probate rules. Probate is an issue that you all have taken up
21 in past years and might take up this year. It's a tough issue, one that's ripe to have some 22 attention. The probate rules committee is doing that. They're going over all of the rules
23 and trying to see how things can be made better. Which brings me to a larger point:
24 How is a rule made? It's almost like your process. Somebody proposes a rule, it goes 25 through a committee, it comes to the full court, the court will then have a hearing. We 26 have people come in and testify. Lots of times after the testimony we will send it back
27 to the committee. I don't know that the General Assembly does that very often, but we 28 do that pretty often. We'll get more information, and then we'll decide whether to 29 adopt the rule. Once a rule is passed by the supreme court, which, as I say, is a pretty 30 burdensome process, it has the effect of law.

31
32 Let me talk now about Justice Monica Marquez. Monica came to us from the 33 Attorney General's Office, as did Justice Eid. Both of them, I think, were also in private 34 practice and brought all of that Attorney General and private practice experience with 35 them. One of the things that we've asked Justice Marquez to do, and Justice Coats helps
36 out with this as well, is assist with attorney regulation. Now, let me talk to you
37 about attorney regulation; and this, I think, is something else that people don't really 38 understand. Those of you who are attorneys do, but everybody else doesn't really 39 know. Is it the bar association? How are attorneys really organized? In fact, the 40 supreme court is responsible for all attorneys, literally from their cradle to their 41 grave. So, for example, of the 40,000 lawyers -- yes, we have 40,000 lawyers
42 in Colorado -- we are responsible for admitting them, making sure that they stay
43 competent, making sure that they do their continuing legal education, those kinds
44 of things. But then also -- and this is really very interesting -- if they die and they leave
45 a bunch of clients, we're responsible for making sure that those clients are taken care
46 of. Something like this happened a few weeks ago. An attorney died very 47 unexpectedly. He was a solo practitioner and died in his office. We, the Court, through 48 the people who work for us, the attorney regulation people, went into this gentleman's 49 office and started looking at his files. There was really nobody else to take care of 50 these particular client files. They were basically abandoned. While they were looking 51 through these files and this gentleman's drawers and whatnot, they came upon $18,500
52 in cash, taped underneath the drawer. I don't know who that money belonged to. It was 53 not the state's money. We have to make sure that it gets back to somebody, the heirs or 54 the attorneys or someone else. But, in any event, that's the kind of strange thing that we,
55 the supreme court, through the many people who work for us, are responsible for. No 56 one spends much time thinking about that, but that's the way it works in

1 Colorado. Now, in some states, the bar association is the same as attorney regulation,
2 but not in Colorado. Everybody has to be licensed by the supreme court, and that's why
3 we're ultimately responsible. It's a very big part of what we do, and that's why we have 4 two justices, both Justice Marquez and Justice Coats, handling that. Another very 5 important thing that Justice Marquez does is she deals with what we call "public 6 access," which is how people on the outside get information from our branch, and that
7 has become an active area of interest. Justice Marquez, along with a Court of Appeals
8 Judge by the name of Jerry Jones, who isn't with us here today, have enhanced the 9 public access discussion by bringing in people broader than just the courts. We now
10 have press groups who are who are members. So I think we are doing a good job with 11 our public access. Let's move on to Justice Boatright, Justice Brian Boatright. Justice
12 Boatright is a busy guy. I give him a lot of jobs, in part, he and I, along with 13 Justice Hood, are the only ones on the Court who were previously trial
14 judges. Sometimes I think that we, as trial judges, have a bigger insight into what's 15 going on in the trial courts. That certainly is correct with respect to Justice
16 Boatright. One of the most important things he does is he deals with all family and 17 juvenile issues, along with Judge Ashby who I already introduced you to. The General
18 Assembly has dealt with two issues in the last couple of years related to family
19 and juvenile issues that have come to our attention. One is truancy and whether or not 20 there should be any detentions with respect to truancy, and the other is shackling of 21 juveniles in the courtroom. Let's talk about shackling first.

22
23 Many people feel that juveniles should not be shackled, period, and there is nobody
24 who disagrees with that. Juveniles should not be shackled. It's hard on them; it's bad
25 for the system. But the devil's always in the details, isn't it? So how are we going to 26 handle all of our different courthouses? We have 22 judicial districts, and we have 27 courthouses in every county. Some of which are tiny, some of which have very little,
28 if any, security, some of which have windy, difficult halls. And let's remember that 29 some of these juveniles are almost 18, big guys, and sometimes very dangerous. So how 30 are we going to handle these different situations without doing a little bit of 31 shackling? What I've done, along with Justice Boatright, is put together a statewide task
32 force. All 22 districts, run by their Chief Judges, along with their sheriffs, along with 33 their DAs, along with their public defenders, have gotten together and tried to figure
34 out a plan. This is the way things really ought to work. We should try to figure out
35 solutions on the lowest level possible. If we don't need a statewide solution, we 36 shouldn't go there. So, on the lowest level possible, we tried to figure out how we can 37 have less juvenile shackling. I think every single judicial district has a plan, and I'm 38 really proud to say that we have much less shackling of juveniles, by far, now, than 39 we did two to three years ago. And thanks to you for bringing this to the forefront. The 40 same thing with truancy. The issue with truancy is these kids don't go to school, the 41 schools call the courts, and the courts file a truancy petition. The courts then are in the 42 position of trying to get these kids to go to school. The issue then is, once you're put in 43 the position of trying to get these kids to go to school, one option is to put them in some 44 kind of a detention. A lot of people believe that detention is absolutely not 45 appropriate. We have, once again through a statewide task force, greatly, greatly, by 46 hundreds of percent, reduced the number of children who are put on some kind of 47 detention as a result of truancy. We've been very successful in this area. We're really
48 pleased with how this is working out, and that's primarily because of Justice Boatright 49 literally going around, talking to the judges, talking to the sheriffs, and talking to the 50 schools. Another thing Justice Boatright does is judicial education. Yes, we do have a 51 lot of education; and no, we don't know everything there is from the minute we get 52 appointed. We have what we call a "baby judge school." It's a week long and intense.
53 This is followed by a teenage judge school. The teenage judge school a little less 54 intense. It's harder to control those teenagers, don't you know? We also have what we 55 call "performance plans," if there are judges having some troubles, people go out trying 56 to help them and give them personalized attention. Finally, we have our

1 judicial conference to provide education to our judges. We're working constantly on
2 judicial education. Justice Boatright recently had a very great idea of creating videos,
3 which he called "So You're Going to Be": So you're going to be a probate judge, so
4 you're going to be a juvenile judge, so you're going to be a criminal judge, so you're 5 going to be a civil judge, where you can go in and find out the latest information. He's just 6 done an excellent job with that, and I really appreciate the time and attention that 7 it's taken. All right. I'm going to move now to Justice Will Hood. Will comes to us from 8 private practice and also from Denver District Court. Will has been primarily 9 responsible for this huge area called "access to justice." I talk about access to justice all 10 the time, and so often that I forget that people don't really immediately understand what 11 it is, so I'm going to give you an example.

12
13 When I was a trial judge, a long time ago in Denver District Court, probably 28 or 29
14 years ago, I was trying a case. It was a divorce case, and the husband was represented 15 by kind of a big law firm, and the woman was not represented by an attorney at all. We 16 now call a person like this an unrepresented litigant or a pro se litigant, but the bottom
17 line is that she didn't have a lawyer. The issue was maintenance, which is how much
18 money she gets from her husband after this divorce. I tried my best, and I made a pretty 19 good decision, I thought, but it evidently was a decision that she didn't like very well.
20 At the end of my decision, this woman, who I still can see and remember very, very 21 clearly, started yelling and screaming. You know, I'm afraid to demonstrate, but just 22 really yelling and screaming. I was sitting on the bench, and I tried to tell her, "Let's 23 have some order in the court." She starts yelling and screaming more, and then she 24 starts taking off her clothes. She took off her shirt. She took off her pants. She starts
25 throwing them around. I'll let you imagine. At this point, I am scared and don't know
26 what to do. I ran off the bench and locked myself in the bathroom. I'm thinking, "This 27 is a little crazy. I just became a judge; I don't need this, thank you very much. Is this 28 really what the rest of my life is going to be like?" She ran out of the courtroom and 29 into the halls, clothing trailing behind her. It must have been a horrible decision on my 30 part, that's all I can tell you, because she was not at all happy. The marshals came, and 31 she went to a detention facility for about an hour and calmed down, and that was that,
32 but it was such a lesson to me about how difficult it is for people who don't have 33 lawyers to come into the courts. I mean, that's a funny example -- kind of -- but it's a
34 very, very true example. It is just terrifying. And that, remember, that problem
35 I'm describing to you is something that happened a long time ago.

36
37 Now, we have a much more difficult situation. The problem got so bad that two or 38 three years ago we came up with a brand new position, that we call a 39 "Sherlock." "Sherlock" is a made-up name for a self-represented litigant coordinator;
40 in other words, someone to assist an individual that doesn't have a lawyer. The 41 Sherlock is supposed to go out and search out answers, and we have these people at 42 every single courthouse. That's a really good thing. You might think, well, that 43 probably will help a few people. It doesn't help just a few people.

45 In 2014, we had about 100,000 people coming in wanting this kind of help. In 2015, we
46 had 125,000 people coming in wanting this kind of help. And last year, we had 137,000
47 people coming in and wanting this kind of help. Providing adequate help for 48 unrepresented individuals is a problem that is not going away, and it's not a problem
49 which is necessarily related to people who can't afford attorneys. Of these 137,000
50 people, many of them can afford a reasonably priced attorney. Many of these people
51 think they can represent themselves or they just don't want to pay for an attorney.
52 Even with our Sherlocks, this issue is coming very much to a head in the courts. Poor
53 Justice Hood is the guy who has to deal with this; he has to figure out the solutions.
54 He does this through all sorts of committees. The bar association is working with us.
55 We have a website which is about to start very shortly where people can go online for 56 help. They can even do it on their telephones and what not to get some information.

1 So he's working very hard to try to figure out how to handle this problem of 137,000
2 people last year who came to the court to ask for help.
3
4 Another thing that we're trying to do is not make people come down to courts but to 5 go to the library. You have to just drive down Broadway to know how many people
6 are outside the big centrallibrary. Those people probably need legal help. If they can 7 go to the library and have access to someone who can help them navigate the system --
8 not be their attorneys -- but help them navigate the system, that's what we're trying to 9 do. We and the bar association are working very hard on this, and Justice Hood is 10 doing a great job in this area.
11
12 Another thing that goes hand in hand with access to justice is interpreters. This is one
13 of the few things we're asking for this year in our budget. We're asking for more
14 interpreters, and we're asking for the interpreters to be paid a little bit better.
15 In 2016, 71,500 people needed interpreting services. Now, that's a lot, and it's all sorts
16 of languages, because Colorado and Denver has become such a melting pot. When I
17 was a trial judge, I remember trying a case where it was all Russians in the courtroom;
18 Russian-speaking parties, Russian-speaking lawyers. The only person who couldn't 19 speak Russian in the entire courtroom was me. If I didn't have interpreters, I would 20 not have been able to do that case. We are asking for slightly more pay for these 21 people who are doing just yeoman's service. Once again, that's something that the 22 courts are very much having to deal with. So, I will, thank you. You are doing a great 23 job in that area.
24
25 Let's move on to Justice Rich Gabriel. Rich is our newest justice. He comes to us
26 from the Court of Appeals, which was great preparation for our court, and private 27 practice before that. Rich has been thrown into the administrative hassle of being a 28 justice. Rich deals with our problem-solving courts, also called specialty courts, and 29 that's something I know that you all have interest in. I got some questions about it at 30 the joint judiciary hearing. We have a lot of problem-solving courts in Colorado -- 81,
31 as a matter of fact. These problem-solving courts arise in the area of drugs, alcohol,
32 mental health, DUI and most recently veterans affairs. They're organic, I would say.
33 They come from the districts as opposed to a statewide approach. What usually 34 happens is that there is a judge and usually a probation officer who feel very 35 strongly that they want to help people, and one of the best ways to help people and 36 have a one-on-one impact is through these problem-solving courts. They're really very 37 cool. People come in, they see the judge not just once every six or eight months, but 38 almost once a week. When participants graduate there are big elaborate celebrations, 39 which are quite fun.
40
41 One problem with problem-solving courts is that they have grown so much, they've 42 proliferated -- 81 in a state of our size -- and it's really hard to not only keep track of 43 them, but also to make sure that they're all effective. And so we have developed a 44 committee, which will start accrediting these problem-solving courts, and Rich will 45 be overseeing that. So, Rich, thank you very much. We appreciate your good work on 46 that.
47 Another thing that all of the justices have to do, including myself, is nominating 48 commissions. I want to talk about that for just a second, because the nominating 49 commissions are really important to the way we are as justices and judges in this state.
50 I always think that everybody understands the process, but it bears repeating. When 51 there is a judicial vacancy, there is immediately a commission formed to fill that 52 vacancy. It happens by statute. If I were to die tomorrow, God forbid, in 30 days you
53 would have a replacement nominated for my job. Fifteen days after that replacement
54 is nominated, the governor has to pick. So, in 45 days, you have a new justice.
55 Sometimes it seems like the process goes too fast, but we get our judges replaced. It's 56 a good system that way.

1 Now, the people who nominate the replacements for judges and justices are 2 nominating commissions. The governor appoints all of the non-attorneys on these 3 commissions. I and the governor and the Attorney General appoint the attorneys.
4 There are 154 people throughout the state who do this, and 15 people at the supreme 5 court level. There's not supposed to be a majority of a political party on any of these 6 nominating commissions. Interestingly, every one of these nominating commissions
7 is chaired by a justice of the supreme court who doesn't have a vote and frankly isn't
8 supposed to say very much. Sometimes it feels like all we do is arrange for the coffee
9 and doughnuts. The justices went to 16 of the 22 judicial districts last year.

11 The most interesting place I went was Nucla, actually, which I never even knew 12 existed, but that was fun. We meet with these commissioners, and they pick three 13 candidates for the vacancy.

14
15 The second most interesting thing about it is to watch the politics of it, because you 16 would think, with democrats and republicans serving on the commissions, that 17 somehow politics would show up. A couple of years into being on the court, I tried 18 very hard to not know ahead of time who were the democrats and who were the 19 republicans on the commissions. I thought maybe I'll be able to sort it out just from 20 listening to people. And the reality is, I never was. And the reality is that what people
21 are doing who are on these commissions is not playing politics in the least. They're 22 trying to figure out who the best people are who they could nominate to be judges. It
23 is so stunningly not political that it's almost hard to express, but if you talk to any of 24 these commissioners, they'll tell you the same thing.

25
26 These nominating commissions work. We get great judges as a result. It's a 27 wonderful system, followed up by the judicial performance system which is very 28 intensive. I have been evaluated under judicial performance standards four times.
29 Each time, I have to tell you it was miserable. I don't know any other way to say it.
30 It was just plain miserable. I see all my colleagues nodding. Through the evaluation 31 process, you get lots and lots of comments, most of which are fair, some of which 32 aren't, but they always make you be a better judge, and that's the whole point of the 33 thing.

35 I've given you an awful lot of information, and I know most of you came here because 36 you just wanted me to talk about the bats; is that right? I kind of thought so, and I
37 saved that for the last, because most people see me and they think of that. Well, thank 38 you for asking. Sorry that I had to give you so much heavy information before we got 39 to it. Yes, we have gotten rid of the bats in Walsenburg and their various by products.
40 You'll recall that we were able to do that primarily because you helped us out so much
41 with under-funded facilities program. Thank you. Our rural courthouses are doing 42 much, much better. We're not asking for more money for that program this year; we 43 may next year.

45 We, frankly, don't need any more money this year, so we're not asking for it. But I'm 46 glad you heard me, even if I wasn't as appropriate as I should have been a couple years 47 ago.

49 Mostly then, in closing, I just want to tell you thank you for giving me and my court
50 the opportunity to come and talk to you. Thank you all for being here on Friday before
51 a three-day holiday. I absolutely love the judicial branch. I love to talk about it. I
52 love being a judge. It's been a very meaningful life for me, so thank you so much. I 53 appreciate all of the help you give us.

14 (a) Although military installations once operated as self-contained
15 communities, today they are increasingly integrated with their host
